

Bangladesh Journal of Forest Science

A Half-yearly Journal of Forest Science

Editorial:

The Bangladesh Journal of Forest Science (BJFS) Published original articles in English dealing with research and its application of interest to forestry and forest industries. The full scale papers, reviews, technical notes, short communications and letters to editors are selected for publication on the basis of relevance, originality, clarity and accuracy. The papers are selected by the editorial board on the basis of peer reviews done by the specialists in the respective fields. Submission of a manuscript to BJFS is taken to imply that the manuscript has not been published, nor been submitted for publication elsewhere. Submission may, however, be returned without review if in the opinion of editorial board it is inappropriate for the journal or is of poor quality.

Guidelines to the authors:

The articles sent for publication should be in English, typed in double space with five centimeters left and bottom and three centimeters right margins, on one side of the sheet, not exceeding ten A-4 pages. If the paper has been presented in a seminar/conference, reference to this effect is to be made in full in a footnote at the front page of the paper.

Title: Title should be concise and specific conveying maximum meaning using fifteen words at the most. The name(s) and full address(es) of the contributors(s) should be mentioned immediately after the title.

Abstract: A short abstract of the paper, highlighting the problem, the methods used to solve it and the conclusion drawn will precede the text. A Bangla version of the abstract should also be incorporated.

Keywords: Abstracts will be followed by 4-8 appropriate keywords arranged alphabetically with semicolon.

Text: Text should be divided into subheads like: Introduction, Materials and Methods, Result(s) and Discussion(s), Acknowledgement(s) (if any) and References. The scientific name of any species must be written properly. e.g. Shorea robusta Gaertn.

Abbreviations: Abbreviations other than those internationally understood should not be used. In the presentation of data, metric units are to be used.

Tables and figures: Tables only very pertinent to the results are to be presented in the simplest form. Coloured photographs, if any, should be 10 cm x 15 cm in size, unmounted and printed on glossy paper. Line drawings and other graphs and diagrams must be 20 cm x 25 cm in size drawn legibly in colour on a good quality paper. Tables, figures and their positions in the text must be clearly indicated. Maps, graphs, photographs, etc., are to be considered as figures and numbered serially. The captions must be pasted in separate pieces of papers on the back of the respective figures.

References:

A. Text citations:

1. The citations in the text should consist of the author's surname and year of publication in parenthesis without punctuation, e.g. (Sattar 1995).
2. If the author's name is mentioned in the text in a sentence, it should appear as under..... as reported by Sattar (1995).

The name of up to two authors should be mentioned in the text, e.g. (Baksha and Islam 1997). In case of more than two authors, the name of the first author should be followed by et al., e.g. (Sattar et al. 1995).

B. List of references

1. Only references cited in the text should be listed.
2. References, without any serial number, are to be listed alphabetically by the surname(s) of the author(s) followed by initials.
3. References of periodicals must include in order, the author's name(s), year of publication, full title of the article in small letters, unabbreviated complete name of the periodical (in italics), volume, issue in parenthesis and page numbers, e.g. Akhtaruzzaman, A.
